

Your vote is powerful.

The officials we vote into office make important decisions, like how much prescription drugs cost and whether we have access to fresh fruits and vegetables in our neighborhoods.

As voters, we can directly influence these policies and help shape the health of our community for generations to come.

If you need help deciding who or what to vote for, discuss with friends and family, search online for local voter guides, and read endorsements from news sources you trust.

Voting is important—but it doesn't have to be a burden.
